

Congress Demands That Top Brass End Wasteful Spending

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Congress bombarded the Armed Forces today with charges of "needless and useless waste" of money and called on military top brass to fix the responsibility.

A House Armed Services subcommittee continued its inquiry into Armed Forces buying practices. Rear Adm. M. L. King, vice chairman of supply management of the munitions board—purchasing agent for the Armed Services—was summoned as today's lead-off witness.

Could Save Billions
Rep. Lyle (D-Tex.) declared the United States may harm itself more than its potential enemy by indulging in "a military spending spree without regard to basic economies or economic capabilities."

He inserted a statement in today's Congressional record saying several billion dollars may well be eliminated from President Truman's $85,400,000,000 budget by reconsidering military spending. Lyle suggested that particular scrutiny be given huge construction projects.

The House subcommittee sought particularly for a satisfactory answer to why the various services have no standard catalogue of items. This, the Congressmen said, causes competitive buying between the services, resulting in duplication and clogged supply lines.

Prices All Different

"We are not interested in generalities, propaganda, alibis or evasion," Chairman Hebert (D-La.) said yesterday. "We want direct and responsive answers."

He added:
"In a day when the dollar can only purchase approximately 53 per cent of its value, we can not tolerate a system which gets only 20 per cent return of that same dollar because of needless and

Air Ace's Death Stirs Argument On Sky Heroes

By STAN CARTER
U. S. FIFTH AIR FORCE Headquarters, Korea—(AP)—An Air Force spokesman today defended the policy of keeping all jet pilots—including aces—in Korea until they have finished their normal tour of 100 combat missions.

That was the Air Force stand on the controversy that has raged since Maj. George A. Davis Jr. was shot down Sunday. Davis had destroyed 11 MiGs and three Red bombers in 59 missions.

Three Sent Home
The spokesman said Davis was a hero, but that statements that he should have been sent home were likely to make him a figure of controversy instead.

The first three American jet pilots to become aces in the Korean war were returned to the U. S. after their fifth kill. Five kills make a pilot an ace.

In Lubbock, Tex., Mrs. Davis said her husband should have been sent home the same as the first three.

She said Davis recently wrote her, "Things can't go on like they are. We lose so many planes and so many men. The MiGs are so much better than the Sabres that something must be done."

Third Baby Expected

Mrs. Davis, who is expecting her third child in May, said, "If I could feel that he has lost his life for some good reason I could feel better about it. But this is a war without reason. I would like to ask a full scale investigation of why he was left in Korea."

The Fifth Air Force spokesman said policy requires the completion of 100 missions in Korea, but that the first three aces were sent home to instruct other airmen being readied for Korean combat.

"We don't send a ground soldier home when he kills 10 Communists," the spokesman said. "The same principle applies to jet pilots."

He added that fighter-bomber pilots and Sabre jet pilots who do not become aces face the same dangers as aces.

"Getting five MiGs is a happenstance," he said, "it doesn't mean a man has won the war."

Crackdown Promised On Potato Prices

DETROIT—(AP)—The Office of Price Stabilization today promised a crackdown on over-ceiling sales of white potatoes. The local OPS office said a check of produce dealers revealed widespread price violations, many of them wilful, with overcharges amounting to six to 10 cents per hundred pounds.

Republicans Primed For Victory Drive In Lincoln Day Rallies

(By The Associated Press)

Cries of "a great victory" and "start fighting" spurred the backers of two entrants today in the Republicans' race for the Presidency.

It was a day—the anniversary of Abraham Lincoln's birth—when Republicans everywhere take stock and, in an election year like this, get primed for the back stretch drive.

In Oklahoma City, a field manager for Senator Taft hailed the outcome of Oklahoma's Republican state convention yesterday as "a great victory for Taft." The session wound up with seven nominating delegates leaning to Taft, seven to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and two to Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Eisenhower Dead Duck
Victor A. Johnson predicted that 12 of the 16 Oklahoma delegates would vote for Taft on the first ballot at the national convention in July.

In Washington, Senator Aiken (R-Vt.) said of General Eisenhower:

"Unless he starts fighting, he's a dead duck. He is going to have to come home and campaign if he wants the nomination. If he doesn't he will be leaving a lot of his promoters out on a very long limb."

Eisenhower, who heads mutual defense forces in Europe, has said he will accept the GOP nomination but will not seek it.

Aiken has not said whom he favors.

Taft In Seattle
Lincoln Day speeches were scheduled today by Taft at Seattle, on his northwest tour, and by two other GOP aspirants, Harold Stassen and Gov. Earl Warren of California.

Stassen, former governor of Minnesota and president-on-leave of the University of Pennsylvania, talks at Salt Lake City. Warren addresses a dinner gathering in Boston.

The Democratic race also was moving along. The only announced entrant, Senator Kefauver of Tennessee, made two appearances yesterday in New York and repeats today in Chicago.

Taft addressed a GOP luncheon crowd yesterday in Spokane, Wash., saying Republicans must have a Presidential candidate who would enthrone party workers by "presenting the issues clearly." He left no doubt he considers himself such a candidate.

Silent Homage Paid Dead King

By ERNEST AGNEW
LONDON—(AP)—Through the hushed dignity of great Westminster Hall, the solemnly clad people of Britain shuffled softly in reverent homage today past the body of King George VI.

Silent men bowed before the casket and passed on. Silent women courted to the sovereign in death as they would in life.

High in the towers of the palace of Westminster, Big Ben chimed its resounding notes marking the passage of each quarter hour.

By the time the doors opened at 8 a. m., more than 2,000 were waiting in patient line to pay respect to the King who walked among them in wartime and encouraged them to stand fast against the troubles of uneasy peace.

The throng that stood for hours was a mixture of the common folk of England. There were early workmen wrapped in trench coats against London's ever-present damp. There were professional men in bowler hats, carrying umbrellas and brief cases. Here and there stood a woman in mink. Most others, including charwomen who stayed their home-going from nightly cleaning work in offices, were dressed in the threadbare coats that mark Britain's austere life.

The closed oak casket was draped in the red and gold royal standard. On it rested the imperial crown and at the head, was a simple wreath of snow white flowers—wreath of the monarch's widow, the Queen Mother Elizabeth.

Winnie Ruth Judd Quizzed By Jury

PHOENIX, Ariz.—(AP)—A county grand jury heard four hours of testimony from trunk murderer Winnie Ruth Judd yesterday—but there has been no indication of what she had to say.

She was whisked into the jury chambers in a surprise move and was closeted for four hours.

Mrs. Judd, who was committed to the Arizona hospital for insane after she killed two girl friends 21 years ago, seemed happy and elated when she finished.

The jury has not disclosed whether she will be called again.

Mrs. Judd returned to the asylum last week voluntarily after her fifth escape. Anonymous friends had telephoned the hospital superintendent she would surrender if allowed to go before the jury.

Dentists Listed For Draft Call

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Selective Service is going to draft 335 dentists for the armed services unless the men accept commissions prior to their induction, set for April.

If they accept commissions—and Selective Service says they may until the time of induction—they will get $100 a month extra pay. If they don't, they will be inducted as buck privates but will be eligible for officers' commissions at regular army pay after induction.

The defense department issued the call for induction of dentists yesterday because the number volunteering for commissions is expected to fall short of needs.

It was the first call for dentists since the Korean war began 19 months ago. A call for 717 doctors was issued last year. No doctors or dentists were drafted in groups as during World War II.

The Army wants 85 dentists, the Navy 200 and the Air Force 50.

The dentists in priority one are those who received all or most of their specialized training at government expense but who served less than 90 days in the armed services.

Lawmakers Won't Give Truman All The Controls He Wanted

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Initial Congressional reaction indicated today that President Truman will get a controls extension law but it will not meet all of his specifications.

The President sent a message to the Capitol yesterday asking for a two-year extension of the Defense Production Act—the law that carries price, wage, rent and credit controls plus production and allocation powers for the mobilization drive.

If these plans work out, Congress should be able to act well before the present law expires June 30.

However, this year's hearings may be prolonged. Requests for time already have begun to pour in to the committee.

Spence (D-Ky.) of the respective Senate and House banking committees at once introduced bills to carry out the President's ideas.

Maybank announced hearings starting March 4 in hopes of getting a bill to the floor by April 1.

Spence said the House committee probably would run its hearings about the same time.

Democrats pointed out that key committees already had agreed to change several sections of the law at which he aimed his sharpest criticism. They indicated a law fairly satisfactory to the President should not be too hard to achieve.

Ike Is Favorite On U. M. Campus

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—(AP)—General Dwight D. Eisenhower is the popular Presidential candidate on the University of Michigan campus a student poll showed today.

Fifty-one per cent of the ballots cast during a three-day mock election conducted by the Michigan Daily, student newspaper, were for the General, who has said he will accept the Republican nomination if it is offered him.

Ike's closest competition came from another GOP candidate, Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio. Taft drew 19 per cent of the total vote.

The Daily, which conducted the poll by urging all students to vote, reported a total of 5,131 ballots were cast.

Eisenhower got 2,658 of them and Taft 1,683.

President Truman ran a poor third, with 496 votes, or 9.6 per cent of the total. His only announced Democratic opponent, Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, was fourth with 340 votes, 6.6 per cent.

All Republican candidates together amassed a total of 4,013 votes, compared to 1,060 for the Democrats.

Bathing Requested In Fairbanks, Alaska, To Keep Drains Open

FAIRBANKS, Alaska—(AP)—Fairbanks residents have been asked by their city engineer to take at least one bath a day.

It's not that he thinks they're too dirty. In fact he doesn't give a hoot about their cleanliness.

Here's the reason:
The extremely cold winter in which temperatures often were more than 50 below zero for days left the ground frozen as deep as 10 feet. The frost is beginning to affect the city's drain pipes.

The engineer says that if residents keep lots of water running down the drains maybe the underground sewer system won't freeze up.

Peron's Government Arrests 100 Radicals

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina—(AP)—The Argentine radical party said last night more than 100 of its members have been arrested since President Juan Peron's government began widespread jailings early this month.

The party statement, given to the press, pleaded for the government not to torture its jailed members.

The government has been silent on the arrests which are said to run into the hundreds, including many army and navy officers.

Enemy Makes Concessions In Korean Truce

By WILLIAM JORDEN

MUNSAN, Korea—(AP)—Communists promised today to come up with a new plan for patching up the latest truce trouble spot—recommendations to governments for a final Korean peace.

The Reds did not indicate when it would be ready or what it would be like.

Truce negotiators adjourned their full dress meetings until the new plan is ready. Presumably it will come from Pyongyang or Peking.

Communists made two concessions Tuesday in another truce tent where staff officers are trying to work out machinery for supervising a truce.

Higher Figure Wanted

Reds offered to boost limits on monthly rotation of troops to 30,000 and establish four ports of entry for incoming troops and war materials to be inspected by neutral teams. The Allies said the figures are not high enough. They are asking a 40,000 rotation limit and eight entry ports.

The previous Red proposals were 25,000 troops and three ports. Staff officers working on the third unsettled point of an armistice remained split on two issues and a number of "minor places and wording," said Col. George W. Hickman, Allied staff officer.

The major differences are voluntary repatriation of prisoners of war and the scope of work to be done by joint Red Cross teams. Tuesday's session was devoted mostly to the second question. Hickman said the Reds indicated they want Red Cross operations "considerably restricted."

Veto On Red Cross
Communists proposed letting Red Cross teams work out their own agreement on specific jobs and methods of working. Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, official U. N. spokesman, said this would give the Reds an "automatic veto"

Truman Says He'll Make Sacrifice If Nation Needs Him

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Rep. Sabath (D-Ill.) quoted President Truman today as saying he may be willing to make the "sacrifice" and seek reelection if he feels it will be necessary to speed the peace.

Sabath talked with reporters after a call on the President.

He said Truman told him the President's work "is a killing job" but that if he "actually felt he would be of aid and help to America and the world in bringing about a peace," in that case he would be willing to "sacrifice" himself and possibly shorten his life expectancy.

Sabath, 85 years old, is the chairman of the House rules committee.

The remaining charges were kept on the books. Prosecutor John Pikkart said, as long as it seemed possible the defense might ask for a new trial.

Turnkey Beaten But Plot Fails

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.—(AP)—A turnkey's quick recovery from a staggering blow and the chance appearance of an assistant prosecutor foiled an attempted breakout from the Kent county jail last night.

But the bloody battle that followed the escape attempt left the turnkey, Deputy Sheriff Oscar Lantinga, and Harry Simmers, one of the six prisoners involved, injured severely enough to require hospital treatment.

Sheriff Hugh M. Blacklock said the six prisoners apparently planned their daring move yesterday.

They were gathered on the second floor of the jail, he added, when the 40-year-old, 200-pound Lantinga, opened a cell block door. One man hit the official on the head with a mop wringer, and all six hurried into the corridor and started into the jail office.

But just as they reached the office, Blacklock related, Assistant Prosecutor Claude Vander Ploeg arrived to question a prisoner about a tavern holdup here last month.

The six plotters took one look at Vander Ploeg, turned around dashed back upstairs.

By this time, Lantinga had recovered from the blow he suffered and was ready for the prisoners. He engaged them in a bloody fight. Several managed to flee to other parts of the jail but other attendants, roused by the commotion, rounded them up.

Michigan Reds To Be Unveiled

DETROIT—(AP)—Secrecy surrounded arrangements going forward today for the coming parade of Communist activities in Michigan. The investigation by the House Un-American Activities Committee will begin Feb. 25.

Rep. Charles Potter, Republican member of the committee, said yesterday that subpoenas already are being sent to witnesses, but the identity of persons who are to testify is being kept secret.

Potter, sole Michigan representative on the committee, revealed some plans for the week-long hearings yesterday when he came here for a Lincoln Day address.

He said he expected the inquiry to show Red inroads into religion, education and industry.

"We intend to develop the scope of Communist activities not only in Detroit but in the entire state," Potter added.

"Judging from the friendly witnesses we have lined up, this should be the best hearing so far. I am convinced it will break the back of the party in Michigan, just as it did in California."

Mill Superintendent Killed At Clinton

CLINTON, Mich.—(AP)—Ernest E. Hoyt, 70-year-old superintendent of the Atlas Milling Co. plant here, was instantly killed today in a plant accident.

Hoyt, superintendent of the plant for the past 37 years, was cleaning a conveyor when he was caught by a moving belt and pulled into the plant pulley system, state police said.

Donations Pay School Bond Campaign Cost

"Not one cent from public funds" is being used to finance the Escanaba school bond issue campaign, Charles L. Folio, Board of Education secretary, yesterday told the Escanaba Rotary club.

Speaking in behalf of the proposed $1,100,000 bond issue to build a new grade school and a new senior high school were Folio and Mrs. N. L. Lindquist, Board of Education president.

"We have been asked: 'Where is the money coming from for this campaign?'" Folio said.

"It has come from public spirited citizens and firms interested in the future of Escanaba. They have donated money and many others are contributing time and effort in behalf of our schools. Not one cent has come from public funds," Folio said.

Kept People Informed
The Board of Education secretary outlined the studies of school needs, the consultations with educators and teaching staff, the interviews with architects that preceded the decision to place the school bond issue proposal before the people on Monday, Feb. 18.

Throughout the three-year period of planning and preparation the people were fully informed, and more than a year ago a Citizens Advisory Council was organized and met independently of the board to work out recommendations.

These recommendations were submitted about two months ago and form the Board of Education's program to construct a new grade school and a new senior high school, Folio reported.

Not Partisan Issue
Mrs. Lindquist pointed out in her talk that the only cost to be incurred by the school district in the bond issue proposal will be that of conducting the election.

"This is a special referendum, not a partisan issue. It is essential, then, to have a separate special election on the school bond question so that it will not become involved with partisan politics."

She voiced an appeal for good schools as a part of the community program to build better youth and combat forces of evil. The home, the church and the school are the training grounds for American youth, she said.

Mrs. Bonifas Gifts Help
Mrs. Lindquist directed attention to the gifts of the late Mrs. Catherine Bonifas to the Escanaba school district for school building.

These gifts include $500,000 toward the construction of a new senior high school and $150,000 for a school for handicapped children.

dren. The special education rooms would be included in the proposed new grade school building.

"Our school district has done much in past years for the crippled and handicapped children of the entire community," Mrs. Lindquist told the Rotary club. "Now is the opportunity to be equally generous and helpful to the normal and exceptional children of our community."

"In the spirit of unity and civic pride which has always characterized anything Escanaba set out to do I believe this bond issue will carry," the school board president said.

Questions Answered On Social Security At Kiwanis Meeting

All angles of the federal social security program were covered Monday in a program presented for the Escanaba Kiwanis club by Carl Johnson, head of the federal security field office in Escanaba.

A sound movie was shown in which all the main facts on social security protection were covered, and after the showing of the film Mr. Johnson answered questions from members of the club.

Ronald Mattson was program chairman for the day.

State To Open Road Bids Here

The Michigan highway department will open bids in Escanaba Tuesday, Feb. 26, on six Upper Peninsula road projects, including one in Delta county.

Projects and their locations on which bids will be received are as follows:

Delta county—6.364 miles of bituminous aggregate surfacing on M-35 between Perkins and Trombley.

Alger county—2.876 miles of grading and drainage and stabilized aggregate surface course on M-67 from US 41 east and north.

1.364 miles of grading and drainage and stabilized aggregate surface course on M-94 from Chatham south.

Bridge on M-94 over Slapneck Creek 1.6 miles west of Forest Lake.

Marquette county—4.976 miles of grading and drainage and 21-foot stabilized aggregate surface course on M-94 from US-41 east to the county line.

Mackinac county—Bridge on M-34 (relocated) over Nunn's Creek seven miles west of Hessel.

Bay Ice Shove Misses Delta

Delta county's thriving commercial fishing business was in full gear today, unaffected by an ice shove that hit the central Green Bay section and carried away nets valued at $25,000.

Northern Menominee county fishermen, hit by the ice move, were planning to land on the floes by plane to salvage their equipment, including about 25 pond nets valued at $1,000 each.

The ice break extended from near the mouth of Bark River in Delta county south to below Cedar River in Menominee county. The ice on Little and Big Bays de Noc remains steady.

Fishermen of Delta and Menominee counties are taking a bumper crop of smelt through the ice. Production is averaging around 3,000 to 3,500 boxes (each box contains 25 pounds of fish) of smelt daily.

The volume of smelt, hitting a peak not seen for several years, has flooded the market. Efforts are being made by the fishermen's associations to encourage the use of the low cost smelt as seasonal food for inmates of state institutions.

Vote Swearing-In Wiped Out By Law

The 1951 legislature in Public Act 108 wiped out all parts of the law permitting the swearing-in of a vote on election day, it was pointed out today by City Clerk George Harvey.

The new law applies to all elections. In Escanaba those persons not now registered to vote in the Feb. 18 school bond issue referendum will not be permitted, under the law, to vote by swearing-in on election day.

Letters To The Editor

A STATEMENT ON EDUCATION

Dear Editor:

We American people have been sadly misled . . . in many of the sweeping statements that are quoted and printed today. There is a basic viciousness that is not apparent to most of us . . . because we have not been taught to use our minds. We have all been indoctrinated with high-sounding phrases—usually it is lack of information that makes us swallow the packaged proposals that are put to us . . . presumably for a decision.

The present issue in Escanaba is education.

How many of us are aware that the right to select the mode and place for the education of our children belongs to US ALONE? AS PARENTS THIS IS OUR SOLE PREROGATIVE! Any authority which the teachers exercise . . . is delegated by the parents. Only so long as the child is actually in the classroom or on the school property is this authority valid. It is taken for granted in this country . . . that our legislators (whom we ourselves have elected) . . . have a direct right to educate. THIS PRINCIPLE IS TOTALLY FALSE.

We have immutable principles in mathematics . . . such as subtraction and addition. For example, no one would be so irresponsible, and no one really has a right to say "2 and 2 are 5". These principles hold true in all sciences strictly so-called.

If there are any human sciences worthy of the name . . . they are the science of right-thinking . . . and the science of morality. According to both of these sciences, one of the most immutable principles is . . . that parents and PARENTS ALONE—have the direct right of educating their children, and this right derives directly from God and nature. The state has no direct right whatever . . . except to provide facilities which parents may take advantage of for the education of their children. THE INDIRECT right exercised by the state of assisting the parents in educating children . . . comes from the PARENTS. It is a delegated right. These principles concern every intelligent man and woman. No matter what the years have brought . . . or custom or tradition . . . or law . . . or what the American way of thinking in education has been, and is WE ARE STILL BOUND TO LEARN, TO TEACH, AND TO PRACTICE THE FUNDAMENTAL AND CORRECT PRINCIPLES OF EDUCATION.

We have everything on surveys, on polls. Because a thought is held by the majority, we are led to believe that this thought is good and right. In this insidious manner our freedom of thought is being stifled. One who disagrees with the majority today . . . is anti-civic . . . unAmerican or unpatriotic . . . depending upon the issue . . . whereas the truth of the matter is—he is one of the isolated few who is using his intelligence. I shall end my statement with a quotation from a book on education, written by Mortimer Smith. This gentleman served as a member of a board of education in Connecticut. I quote—

"Not all those individuals who opposed compulsory education a century and more ago were reactionaries; some of them had clear prescience of the dangers of such a system. In view of the present development of our schools can we say they were entirely wrong? Founded as a convenient device for the purpose of transmitting the heritage of the race from generation to generation, our schools under the political power have aggregated unto themselves more and more functions. Today our schoolman with his determination to educate 'the whole child' finds the home and parents simply embarrassments to the accomplishment of his purpose."

A HEALTHY SOCIETY IS BASED ON THE FAMILY . . . EACH TIME THE FAMILY RELINQUISHES ANY OF ITS FUNCTIONS TO THE SOCIAL GROUP OR STATE . . . OUR FREE SOCIETY IS THEREBY WEAKENED."

New School Will Cost Average Home Owner About $15 Per Year

ASSESSED VALUATIONS in Escanaba, that is the valuations of property assessed for tax purposes, are less than one-third of today's true cash value of property.

Thus, a home that would bring $9,000 in a sale today has an assessed valuation of less than $3,000, perhaps about $2,700. This home, actually worth $9,000, would cost its owner $20.25 annually in increased school taxes for the $1,100,000 school bond issue to be voted upon Feb. 18.

We think it is important to bring out this fact because there has been so much confusion and misunderstanding about the cost to individual taxpayers of the school building program.

The school bond issue will cost an estimated $7.50 per $1,000 valuation. The proposal, of course, fixes the maximum at $10 for $1,000 valuation but on the basis of total assessed valuation in the city, the actual levy will be about $7.50.

The average assessed valuation in Escanaba is less than $2,000. The state law requires that assessments be based upon 1941 values, not upon values of today. In Escanaba, assessments are figured at only 80% of 1941 values. That is why assessed valuations are less than one-third of today's actual values.

As more homes are constructed here or more industry comes to Escanaba, the total assessed valuation in the city will increase. The amount to be raised for redemption of the school bonds each year, however, will not increase so it is fair to assume that in later years the assessment for the 1952 bond issue will be reduced proportionately.

There are, at present, 901 parcels of real estate in Escanaba with an assessed valuation of less than $500, out of a total of 4,440. There are 377 in the $500-$1,000 bracket; 559 in the $1,001 to $1,500 bracket; 640 assessed at $1,501 to $2,000; 583 assessed between $2,001 and $2,500; 461 assessed between $2,501 and $3,000; 285 between $3,001 and $3,500; 166 between $3,501 and $4,000; only 72 between $3,501 and $5,000.

A total of 262 parcels of real estate are included in the valuations over $5,000. They include commercial buildings, industries, factories and, of course, a few homes.

A total of 3295 different persons own the 4,440 parcels of real estate assessed for tax purposes. Nearly 80% of all property descriptions are included in the valuations under $3,000.

It is apparent from these figures that the school building program will not be a terrific financial burden to home owners. Most people will pay less than $20 per year, a sum that is insignificant in comparison with the value of high standards of education.

McCarthy Blundered In Threatening Press

THE public debate over Senator McCarthy's charges of communism in government will rage on. It is fitting that the pros and cons be argued vigorously and openly.

But there is no place in this give-and-take for threats of punitive action against any who have entered the fray.

Last fall Time magazine published an article generally critical of McCarthy and the methods he has used in developing his charges. Apparently McCarthy wrote to complain of what he said were false statements in the story.

More recently the senator drafted a letter to Time's editor in chief, Henry R. Luce, reminding him that the magazine had not "corrected a single one of the false statements."

McCarthy went on to inform Luce that if no action were taken he intended to put his case before "all of your advertisers."

"As you of course know," said McCarthy in his letter, "I am preparing material on Time magazine to furnish all of your advertisers so they may be fully aware of the type of publication which they are supporting."

There is no intent here to argue the accuracy of Time's story. There is only the purpose to defend Time's right to report the issue as it sees it, without fear that stern punishment will be visited upon the magazine for criticizing the senator.

An avowed plan to influence the magazine's advertisers is plainly a program to cripple Time through curtailment of its revenues. This is an attempt to silence a nation-wide news organ on an issue of paramount importance.

Successful intimidation would clearly constitute an infringement of press freedom, one of the elemental liberties of the American people.

When honest criticism by the press is stifled, the whole structure of democratic freedom is imperiled.

Indeed, the atmosphere may fairly be described as unhealthy when even threats to intimidate the press can be delivered with impunity.

For if we do not take alarm when so basic a liberty as this is challenged, when shall we?

Whether or not McCarthy's complaints against the magazine are warranted, in this nation the remedy cannot lie in action which, if successful, would strike a hard blow at the liberties we are struggling to preserve.

The Doctor Says ...

You May Dislike Trip To Dentist; Make Best Of It And Save Misery

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

The situation described in the first question is, I fear, all too common. Some people will endure a toothache many times more agonizing than any fleeting pain a dentist might inflict. It's a self-defeating state of mind that can and should be licked.

"I have never been a coward," writes T. C., "but now I find I am."

"I have to get a lot of dental work done, and I have the most awful fear of starting. How can I overcome this fear?"

"As far as I know, no one looks forward with pleasure to having dental work done. However, after all, when it is necessary, it is for our own good. It is best to try to conquer the fear as much as possible, and to go right ahead."

"Q—I'm five months pregnant, and I would like to have my top teeth pulled. Some people say it is dangerous and some say go ahead. What do you think?"

Mrs. P. S.

"A—This is a question which should be decided by your dentist and obstetrician jointly. They can probably decide over the telephone whether or not it is necessary for you to have your teeth taken out at this time, whether they should all be taken out at once, or not, and what anesthetic you should receive."

"Q—I would like some information as to whether so-called jungle rot should be treated, or if there is no cure for it?"

Mrs. D. M.

"A—Jungle rot is probably not a distinct skin disease. It seems to be a peculiarly bad condition of the skin which comes in association with any one of several kinds of specific skin diseases in people located in tropical countries."

Some cases of jungle rot have been extraordinarily difficult to cure, but most of them have recovered after appropriate management and return to a more moderate climate.

"Q—My doctor has just told me that I have cerebral arteriosclerosis. This horrifies me because I understand it leads to insanity. Is this true?"

Mrs. F. L.

"A—Nearly everyone after the age of 20, starts developing a certain amount of cerebral arteriosclerosis, or hardening of the arteries."

You should certainly give up worrying that this will produce insanity, though you may notice that your memory is not as good as it used to be—but whose is?"

"Q—Through medical tests such as a bronchospasm, I have been told I have bronchiectasis. Please advise if there is a cure for same?"

A. W. C.

"A—Bronchiectasis is the result of a long-continued chronic cough, usually resulting from infection in the sinuses or the breathing passages."

If the case is not too severe, good results are often obtained by conquering the infection responsible by administering penicillin or some similar substance, or otherwise treating the basic cause."

If the bronchiectasis is advanced, lung surgery offers the best hope of satisfactory results."

NOTE ON QUESTIONS

Dr. Jordan is unable to answer directly individual questions from readers. However, once a week, in this "Q & A" column he will answer the most interesting and the most frequently asked questions received during the week.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Louey Johnson, the pleasant, barren-beamed ex-Secretary of Defense, has had three private talks with the President, all through the White House back door. Two were at his request, the last was requested by Truman.

What the President chiefly wanted, Johnson later told friends, was to get the veterans straightened out politically. He figured that Johnson, a big wheel in the American Legion, with his law partner, Don Wilson, now national commander, might be able to swing a lot of the vets back into Democrat ranks.

But Johnson was quite unenthusiastic. "I don't think I could very well go to the veterans," he said, "with my reputation for having been fired, and expect to make a successful political appeal."

The President didn't comment on this, but asked his ex-Secretary of Defense what he thought of the political situation.

"I don't think Eisenhower will get anywhere," Johnson told friends that he replied. "But I think he has enough strength to block Taft. In the case of that deadlock I think MacArthur will be the nominee, and he is one man, Mr. President, you can't beat."

McCarthy SQUEEZES TAFT
Fellow Republicans have been whispering behind Bob Taft's back about the way the senator from Wisconsin has been pushing the senator from Ohio around.

What they say is that McCarthy barked and Taft jumped the other day when he issued his statement supporting McCarthy. For exactly three months, the Wisconsin wildman had been demanding such an endorsement — in fact, ever since Mr. Republican stepped on his toes last October by declaring that McCarthy's charges had been "overstated."

"I don't think anyone who overstates his case helps his own case," was what Taft told the press on October 22. "The extreme attack against General Marshall is one of the things on which I cannot agree with McCarthy. I think some criticism of General Marshall was justified, but he should not have been accused of affiliation with any form of Communism."

This infuriated McCarthy. Shortly thereafter, he cornered Taft in the Senate and demanded a repudiation. At first, the Ohioan sidestepped. He tried to placate McCarthy by repeating in subsequent speeches: "I don't agree with everything McCarthy says, but we can't criticize McCarthy for starting the Communists-in-government investigation."

Of course, McCarthy didn't start the Communists-in-government probe at all, but jumped on the soapbox long after Alger Hiss and William Remington had already been exposed, largely by the un-American Activities Committee and by McCarthy's fellow Republican, Senator Nixon of Illinois. Yet even this indirect tribute from Taft didn't satisfy the Wisconsin senator. He began talking tough to Taft and threatening political reprisals. He even boasted about it afterward, until it became common gossip in the Senate cloakrooms.

Finally the harassed Taft knuckled down and announced on January 21: "McCarthy's investigation has been fully justified. . . This administration has been dominated by a strange Communist sympathy."

What made this all the more humiliating for Taft was that it was completely one-sided. While he announced his support of McCarthy, the senator from Wisconsin said nothing about supporting Taft. In fact, on December 14, McCarthy came out for Gen. Douglas MacArthur for president "and a younger man for vice president"—meaning, of course, McCarthy.

Ironically, it was McCarthy who defeated MacArthur in Wisconsin's 1948 primary by claiming that MacArthur was "too old" and by smearing him with Catholic voters on account of his divorce.

However, the political winds have shifted, and McCarthy is now trying to tie himself to MacArthur's kite.

Meanwhile Senator Taft explains to Republican colleagues privately: "Joe was threatening to come out for Stassen in Wisconsin, and Wisconsin is very important to me. Also I had pressure from party leaders to support McCarthy."

He identified the other party leaders as Herbert Hoover and General MacArthur.

Note—Though Taft indicates to friends that he isn't happy about his forced alliance with McCarthy, a March of Dimes solicitor calling on the Taft home the other evening, discovered Senator McCarthy seated comfortably at the Taft dinner table.

Britons Compare Elizabeth To Victoria; Queens In Own Right

By NEA Foreign Service

LONDON —(NEA)—Out of Britain's past, two famous queens emerge as triumphant figures. It is natural that a comparison will be drawn between the new Queen of England and those two great monarchs — the original Queen Elizabeth and Queen Victoria.

There are many similarities between the three; they acceded to the throne early in life; they were born of parents who originally had little hope of contributing to the royal line; they all lived a glorious love story.

But there are also monumental differences. Chief, of course, are the times the three gallant ladies lived in. Elizabeth and Victoria gave so much to their ages that historians call them the "Elizabethan" and "Victorian" periods. Elizabeth ruled for 44 years, Victoria for 62.

Elizabeth was queen in the 16th and 17th Centuries, when the English monarch was ruler in fact as well as title. By the 19th Century, when Victoria became queen, the power of royalty was virtually non-existent.

The present queen is the only one of the three to be married and a mother before she acceded. Victoria married after her coronation and bore a future king. Elizabeth never married and was the last of her line.

The reign of Elizabeth began tempestuously. Her father was the notorious Henry VIII. Her mother, not even Henry's wife, was Anne Boleyn. Scarcely anyone would have believed that the illegitimate daughter born to Anne in 1533 would one day mount the throne of England.

She had an elder sister and an elder brother. Both became monarchs. But Edward VI died when he was 16 and "Bloody Mary" had no children. So Elizabeth took her place on the throne and in history in 1558, when she was 23, one year older than the new Queen.

There was great rejoicing throughout England when Mary died. Religious questions had torn the island. Mary had sent Elizabeth to the Tower of London and the future queen was very nearly beheaded.

Elizabeth was handsome but no beauty. Court rumors said there was a physical defect that prevented her from having a child, but she had many suitors. Her romance with Robert Devereux, 2nd Earl of Essex, has long been celebrated in story and drama.

It was a love story ideal for the stage because it had the ingredients of passion and hate. Both Elizabeth and Essex were headstrong, stubborn and willful. They were attracted to each other physically, but the court gossip was that they didn't really like each other.

And there was the final scene of their romance, a scene that has always made the story a popular vehicle for great actresses. Essex was condemned to die for an ineffectual "rebellion." Elizabeth sat alone in her chambers, with the power to pardon her erstwhile lover or let him be beheaded. Stubbornly she refused to move and Essex died.

Elizabeth's last years were desolate. Essex was the last of her favorites. She had no children and so the next in line for the throne was James, the son of her enemy Mary, Queen of Scots. Elizabeth died in 1603, an old lady mourned by none but the English people.

She contributed much to her country, even though her reign was marked by moral degeneration. It was during her years on the throne that England's best-loved monarch Great Britain ever had, and she ruled for the longest time. Elizabeth, the new Queen ascends to the throne already assured of a warm place in the hearts of her subjects. Whether she will ever match Victoria as a revered Queen is a matter for history to decide.

But Britons see in her the same qualities for winning affection that Victoria had. She has respect for her people. She is a quiet, family-loving woman, a person of great dignity and honor. She is, like Victoria, a woman who could be called "queenly" even if she weren't a real queen.

Victoria's father, like Elizabeth's was a younger son. There seemed little likelihood that Edward, Duke of Kent, the fourth son of George III, would ever sire a queen. But the only child of George's eldest son died, and the next two sons had no children, so Victoria became next in line.

She was carefully trained as a future queen. She never slept away from her mother, and she was forbidden to talk to grown-ups alone. These rigid measures made her an unchildlike child, and gave her a dignity that was consistent with her position. But it didn't make her a happy girl.

In 1837, when Victoria was 18, she became queen. The chamberlain awoke her in the early morning and calmly spoke the words she knew she would one day hear: "Your Majesty!" She was Queen Victoria.

Thus began a reign that was as different from the original Elizabeth's as it is from the reign that the new Queen will have. Whereas Elizabethan England was a period of loose carousing, Victorian England was straight-laced and severe.

But both eras were golden days for England. Under Victoria—and her brilliant prime ministers, Palmerston, Gladstone, Disraeli—England's expansion reached its peak. The nation became an empire, with the addition of India, and Victoria became an empress. The new queen will not have that title on her string.

Next to her country, Victoria's abiding love was her family. Her consort, Albert, and her children—she had nine, including the future King Edward VII—made the advent of a Queen may bring

NEW QUEEN Elizabeth brings Britons hope of better times.

LAST QUEEN until now, Victoria enjoyed little real power.

Navy, under the intrepid Hawkins, whipped the Spanish Armada and that Britain really began to "rule the waves." For 44 years, she was a symbol of a nation whose strength and destiny would stretch around the world.

Her namesake, Princess Elizabeth, inherits a country much different. The golden days of the British empire have faded. Its strength is challenged in many places. The monarchy still exists, but it is no longer the end-all of British rule.

The two Elizabeths share one thing. The first Elizabeth prided herself on being a "mere English woman," by which she meant that she was virtually pure English in blood. Her mother, Anne Boleyn, was an English commoner. The present Elizabeth is also a child of an English commoner, and could make the same boast.

Through the centuries, English monarchs have come and gone, and its queens have left the strongest impression on the country. A new queen now mounts the ancient throne and Britons, although saddened by the death of George VI, hope that somehow the advent of a Queen may bring

Good Evening ...

By CLINT DUNATHAN

A. LINCOLN—Today is the birthday anniversary of Abraham Lincoln, 16th president of the United States, one of the world's truly great men.

In his simplicity, humanity and courage Lincoln became a legend even within his lifetime. In spite of his high position and the hatreds inspired by civil war, Lincoln was known to millions as "Honest Abe" and "Father Abraham."

With direct nobility of speech he added some of the finest examples to American literature.

He never hated anyone, he never lost touch with the common people, and he never sought revenge. Rather Lincoln elevated the presidency to a position of amazing power in the preservation of the nation in its most critical hour.

His call for national unity and the appointment of his rivals as leading members of his cabinet set the stage for trouble, war—and unity.

THE BENT TWIG—Lincoln's early life and education, humble though it was, was his training ground for greatness of spirit and inspired leadership.

His birthplace, a log cabin in the hills of Kentucky, has become a symbol of America's opportunity.

His heritage, poor but honest, is part of the heritage that Americans would bequeath to every generation.

His education in the schools of wilderness Indiana gave him the start he must have for exploring the world of knowledge.

A HUMBLE MAN—Lincoln was not proud of his limited education. He would rather that it had been better, for he felt throughout his lifetime that he had been denied educational opportunity.

But Indiana in 1820 was not Boston or New York. The Lincolns were pioneers and young Abe helped hew a farm from the virgin forest.

Abe Lincoln never claimed his greatness came about because he was born in a log cabin; or because he used clean-shaven boards on which to do his arithmetic.

"There was absolutely nothing to excite ambition for education," Lincoln wrote of his early school days. "Of course, when I came of age, I did not know much. Still, somehow, I could read, write, and cipher to the rule of three, but that was all."

Lincoln was homespun and earthy, yet he did not capitalize on his lack of education or his humble birth. They were handicaps, not aids to fame and fortune.

THE GROWING MIND—His taste for learning never satisfied, Lincoln read widely and studied for long hours. He successfully prepared for and passed an examination to become a lawyer.

He tried cases in the State Supreme Court, handled cases before Justices of the peace; he could speak the same language as the farmers on a jury, or argue a complicated technical case before a keen and well-informed judge.

Always Lincoln prepared carefully for his important cases. By 1849 he was recognized as one of the leading members of the Illinois bar.

CULMINATION—Lincoln's open and ever-growing mind brought from him some of the most dignified and flowing statements in the history of literature.

He sincerely felt that democracy—its government, its churches and schools—is the best of all forms of government.

Recognized as a world masterpiece is his ringing declaration in the Gettysburg Address that "government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

Power With Words

By Dr. C. E. Funk

MORE WORDS OF ROMANCE
Men were "coquettes" back in the seventeenth century, just as were the ladies. That is, such men as fancied themselves to be lady-killers, or generally attractive to ladies. But the men surrendered the term entirely during the next century, and now the "coquette" (koh-KET), or person who flirts, is always feminine.

By rights, the word should have remained masculine because of its origin. That is, it was derived from the French "coq," cock, and its reference was to the strutting gait and love-making nature of this master of the barnyard. And in France "coquet" is still the term for a male flirt, while "coquette," with feminine ending, is for the female.

Today we would declare the lady flirt to be "charming, enchanting, and fascinating." And these are three words that still convey something of the old sense of danger which they carried in earliest use. A lad who is "fascinated" (FAS-i-nay-tid) or "enchanted" (en-CHAN-tee) by his lady acts as though he were indeed under a spell of witchcraft—and that is exactly what the three words originally meant.

Some of us may still wear a "charm" to turn away evil; its source was the Latin "carmen," a word not only meaning song, but also the magic formula recited by priests when engaged in sorcery.

"Enchant" came by way of France from Latin "incanto," which, though it meant "to sing," also meant "to utter a magic formula against someone; to bewitch." And the "fascinum," from the same source as our "fascinate," was the amulet that every careful Roman mother placed each morning about the neck and under the robe of her child before permitting the child to leave the house. It was a protection against the evil eye. Even cattle were sometimes protected by a "fascinum," for a person who had the power to "cast an evil eye" might do harm to any who offended him by directing an evil look on him or on any living thing belonging to him.

If used with precision, one "charms" or "enchants" by means of words or actions, and "fascinates" by the eyes or, sometimes, by the tongue. And one is "charmed" or "enchanted" with one's consent; but "fascinated" against one's will.

We used to think of them as just our highways—now they're our highways and lowways—and merrily we bump along.

Some farmers use a bell and others ring a chicken's neck for dinner.

Graduation Marks Victory For Tom Degnan Of Lansing

The graduation of Tom Degnan, 20, from Eastern High School in Lansing with high scholastic honors is the subject of a story in the Lansing State Journal which will be of wide interest here.

Tom is a former resident of Escanaba. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Michael Degnan, both members of prominently known Escanaba families, and his mother will be remembered as Jane Clark, daughter of Mrs. W. J. Clark and the late Mr. Clark of 226 Lake Shore Drive.

The Lansing story follows:

"The story of Tom Degnan might be the story of any youth, excitedly awaiting Thursday evening and high school graduation ceremonies—the long-awaited diploma."

"Of Tom's story might well be the story of all young people who have fought and overcome the nerve-crippling effects of cerebral palsy."

"Tom's diploma from Eastern High School hasn't come the easy way. Many less persistent young people might never have reached a similar goal. His graduation is the result of 15 years of hard and patient work."

"At 20, he is doing well, considering that his handicaps are among the more severe of those that plague persons with a cerebral palsy condition.

"Of course, Tom had help—and deserved it."

"When other children his age were starting grade school, Tom was enrolled in the Escanaba Orthopedic School. Later, when Mr. and Mrs. Michael Degnan moved to Lansing, Tom was enrolled at Walnut Orthopedic School.

"He's attended junior high and high school classes there under Miss Arselia Block, but his academic credits have been handled through Eastern High School. He will be the seventh high school graduate of the orthopedic school and the first young man."

"In grade school Tom patiently learned to set his thoughts on paper with his own adaptation of touch typing—slowly educating unwilling fingers to hit the right keys. Evenings he worked until late hours at his own typewriter in his room. He also learned to play simple tunes on the xylophone and loves to play records from his collection."

Writing Called Amazing

"Tom has been an exceptional student, according to Miss Block. He is a member of the Eastern High School Chapter of the National Honor Society. He also has been editor-in-chief of the Walnut Press, school paper, for two and one-half years. His writing has amazed both teachers and students."

"Lack of competition in classes for orthopedic students is replaced by a great desire to learn and help others along. Tom is one of the leading members of the room's 'Lend-a-Hand' Club."

"But Tom's fellow students aren't to be outdone. In honor of Tom's graduation, class members decorated the entire room in Eastern colors, made exhibits and prepared sandwiches and punch for an 'open house' program Tuesday afternoon."

Seventy at Party

"Some 70 persons, including nearly all the previous graduates, school officials, relatives and friends attended the party. Among them were Dwight Rich, superintendent, and Don Wheeler, principal of Eastern High School."

"After a month or so 'vacation' at his home, 1405 Eureka St., Tom will enter Edward W. Sparrow Hospital to undergo surgery which doctors hope will aid his walking."

"About the future? Tom's secretly hoping he can some day have a room, one that he can operate at home, to start a business of his own."

Evangelist Will Conduct Meetings At Calvary Church

The Rev. Floyd Ankerberg, internationally travelled Youth for Christ evangelist will open a series of meetings at Calvary Baptist Church at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday. The good news meetings will be held February 13 through February 24 every night except Saturday, at 7:30. The evangelist will speak at both services on the two Sundays.

Following participation in the World Congress on Evangelism at Beatenberg, Switzerland in August, 1948, Rev. Ankerberg visited ten countries in holding evangelistic rallies and campaigns. He returned in the summer of 1949 for a similar trip. It was on this tour that he was taken for a spy in Poland. Here he was searched, stripped and grilled by police for four hours before being released.

In the spring and early summer of 1950, he was sent to Norway, Sweden, and Finland where he set up itineraries for student teams which went to Europe for the summer to preach in these Scandinavian lands and also the British Isles, France, Belgium, Denmark, Holland, Germany, Austria, Switzerland, Italy, Spain, Portugal, and North Africa.

Rev. Ankerberg was a successful pastor in Chicago before going into full-time evangelistic work with Youth for Christ in January, 1950. During his pastorate, he became increasingly aware of the spiritual needs of American youth. He resigned his pastorate to join the Youth for Christ movement which now is holding 2,000 rallies in 76 countries all over the world.

The evangelist is a graduate of Northern Baptist Seminary in Chicago. He has been active in music and preaching since he was a boy.

AP Newsfeatures
Dan Cupid, has dreamed up a new way to play "post office" on St. Valentine's Day. And he expects to do a terrific business this leap year, 1952.

It all began several years ago, out in Loveland, Colorado (population 8000) which has since been nicknamed "Sweetheart Town." Some sentimental person wrote to the local postmaster, Elmer Ivers, and asked him to re-mail Valentines with a postmark from Loveland on the envelope. He did. Soon the news spread, and a new romantic custom was born. Those who received a Valentine from Loveland one year would send their own from there the next time.

Postmaster Ivers reports that the average person sends from 6 to 25 Valentines. Last year he re-mailed more than 50,000 Valentines from Loveland—including some for movie stars, and pen pal clubs. All that's needed is a stamped and addressed Valentine, enclosed in another envelope to Postmaster, Loveland, Colorado. This year Postmaster Ivers plans to stamp "A Valentine Greeting from Sweetheart Town" on all Valentines sent out from there.

'Horse And Buggy' Era Has Lots Of Activity

By W. S. CROWE

A young teenager looking through an old family album, said, "My, what a dead stuffy age that must have been: lumberjacks just out of the woods looking like hairy apes; the men with their beards, derby hats, stand up collars and sporty vests; women and girls with their hoop skirts, bustles, puffed sleeves, long dresses, impossible hair-dos and outlandish hats." And a young man asked, "What did folks do in those old 'horse and buggy' tallow candle, kerosene days with no movies, radios, automobiles, airplanes, electricity, or even refrigerators? Were they really the yayseds they look to be? And were the old Chicago Lumbering Company crowd which owned the town for so many years the rough, tough, hard boiled, lumber barons we have been told about?"

Well, to start with the folks of that day were not so dead on their feet as the pictures might lead you to suppose. They managed to keep the race from dying out, long dresses, bustles and hoop skirts notwithstanding, and the boys with their derby hats, stand up collars and sporty vests were not so slow. The "Gay Nineties" were not misnamed. It was an era

Local students are requested to complete their essays and have them in the hands of the lay retreat committee by Feb. 29. Members of the committee are Mrs. Joseph New, Mrs. Emma Fountain, Mrs. Kathryn Kefauver and Mrs. Naomi Gauthier.

Britons Compare Elizabeth To Queen Victoria

up a closely-knit happy circle. The marriage of Victoria and Albert was an arranged union. Albert had been carefully coached for the job of a future consort. The happiness of the marriage came after it was a fact, and blossomed with the years. Albert's death, when Victoria was 42, was a heavy blow.

It is here that the present Queen differs most from Victoria. Her marriage was a love match. Philip and Elizabeth met when she was 13 and he 17. The Royal family was visiting the Royal Naval College, and Philip, as "Captain's Doggie," had to entertain the two princesses while the King was inspecting.

The new queen trained for the day that arrived with her father's death. When she was 18, she made her debut in the ceremonial role which is the biggest part of the royal family's work.

She reviewed the guard at Windsor Castle. Afterwards, she went to her father and asked, anxiously, "How did I do, Daddy?"

The King tapped a cigarette against his case and smiled at his eager daughter. "Very well, my girl," he said.

And throughout Great Britain and the dominions across the seas, the prayer and the expectation are that Elizabeth will continue to do very well. With the model of Victoria shining from the history books she studied so carefully, Britain believes that she will.

Mr. Orr carried a pocket plat book and I think knew every "forty" in Schoolcraft County.

When the annual tax list (a big one in those days) was published in the Pioneer Tribune, Mr. Mersereau would call off the descriptions and Mr. Orr told him at once whether to "let it go" or "buy it in." Mr. Mersereau pencil-checked the ones to buy in, handed the list to Miss Riggs, the stenographer, who listed them in a letter which went to the County Treasurer with a check, and that was that.

In the little room school house (No. 2, Adams Township, Butler County, Pa.) from which I graduated at the ripe age of 14, there were just two mottoes on the bare walls. One, "Knowledge Is Power," the other, "Time Is Money." The organization of the Chicago Lumbering Company of Michigan exemplified these mottoes in the tenth degree.

Negro Corporal Fight Favorite

BY HARRY STAPLER
GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.—Corp. Dick Jones of Fort Custer who stalks and batters his foes—marches into the closing rounds of the Michigan Golden Gloves championships tonight.

And the 22-year-old Negro ranks an odds-on favorite to batter through the semi-final and final bouts and retain his 175-pound open title.

Jones, a crowd-pleaser who balks at turning pro despite many offers, showed his dynamite last night.

He knocked out Tony Younger of Kalamazoo in 1:19 minutes of the first round as the big amateur meet opened its two night stand before 4,500 fans at Civic Auditorium.

Defending team champion Flint placed nine fighters in the semifinals. But Grand Rapids with 13 and Bay City with 11 landed more. Kalamazoo paced 8, Jackson 6, Lansing 6, Fort Custer 3, Port Huron 3, Petoskey 2 and Pontiac 1. Altogether 10 regional meets are staged to determine the 120 contestants here.

The eight individual champions in open competition will move on to the National Golden Gloves tournament at Chicago. Any boxer who wins four amateur fights or is over 20 years old is placed in the open class. All others are classed as novices.

Four of five 1951 champions who are back this year won opening bouts.

Indians Patch Up Hitting For 1952

CLEVELAND INDIANS
BY AL LOPEZ

TAMPA, Fla.—It is no secret why we didn't win the pennant. It was because of our lack of hitting.

With the hitters failing to come through, it placed too much of a burden on the shoulders of our pitchers.

Big Guns Back
 That's our biggest repair job for 1952—to improve our hitting. I am optimistic enough to expect that to happen. You've got to remember that Luke Easter missed more than a month because of a bad knee and that Larry Doby was nursing injured legs practically all season.

With Easter's knee and Doby's legs in shape, I don't see how we can fail to improve on our hitting. They are two of our biggest guns. If you don't believe how important Luke's big bat was to us, just look at the figures. The Indians played nearly 700 ball with Easter in the lineup and below .400 without him.

PUTTER THERE—Bobby Thomson shows pretty Catherine Fox Park of New York where to grip her putter during a links session at the Miami Country Club. The New York Giant star slugger seems to have the situation well in hand. (NEA Photo)

The new jerseys and stockings couldn't have arrived at a more opportune time, for the Hawks' play of late has far outshone the drab black and white attire that has draped the local puck chasers.

The record shows three victories in the last four games, two over the defending champion and one—a 6-0 shutout, no less—over the Calumet Radars.

Sweet Revenge?
 Oddly enough, that stretch includes a close loss to the team the Hawks face tomorrow night. With the Hawks stricken by illness and injury, the Sentinels nipped the Escanabans, 8-6, in that encounter. Since that encounter, Escanaba has spanked Calumet handsomely and handed Portage Lake two more losses, by 4-1 last Wednesday and that 12-6 scrap Sunday afternoon.

It goes without saying the Hawks are eager to avenge the only blot on the record in the last four games. And if their play is anything like it has been since they got the Indian sign on Calumet and Portage Lake, Marquette will be in for a very busy evening.

High Scorers
 Despite the Hawks' apparent reputation around the circuit,

Red Rolfe Signs On Tiger Dotted Line

DETROIT—Red Rolfe has formally inked a contract to manage the Detroit Tigers during the 1952 season.

He put his name on the dotted line after a confab yesterday with General Manager Charley Gehringer, who previously had said Rolfe could have the job if he wanted it. Red had said he did.

Terms of the contract were not revealed, but Rolfe reportedly got between $45,000 and $65,000 last season.

This will be Rolfe's fourth term as pilot of the Detroit American league club. He brought the Tigers in fourth in his first year, second in 1950 and fifth in 1951.

Titans Center Runs His Score To 398

DETROIT—Tossing in 30 points, center Norm Swanson broke his own single-season scoring record last night as his University of Detroit Titans defeated Drake, 72-69.

The 30 points gave Swanson 398 for the season. His previous record was 387, set in the 1949-50 season.

The triumph was Detroit's 11th against 9 defeats. Drake's mark is 8-12.

Roaming Wolves Are Threat To Romans
ROME—(P)—The peaceful farmer folk are turning out these nights with their old muskets to keep this ancient city of Romulus and Remus from going back to the wolves.

Famine caused by the long summer dry spell in the Apennines has driven whole packs of gaunt wolves down to prey on the sheep and cattle in the hills, within 15 miles of the capital.

In little communities around Rocca di Papa, Cervara, and even the Pope's summer home at Castel Gandolfo, wolf packs have been killing up to a dozen sheep a night. Some farmers reported cows killed.

Yanks Team To Beat
 I believe some of the other clubs have improved but I think the Yankees and Red Sox will be weaker. You can't lose men like Joe DiMaggio and Bobby Doerr and not feel it. And if Ted Williams goes back into service.

Detroit will be stronger as will Philadelphia and St. Louis. The Tigers will have Art Houtteman, their fine young pitcher, back. The Browns have brought up a lot of good minor league players. Those ever-hustling White Sox will be tough to handle.

The team to beat, though, is still the Yankees. No matter how good Mickey Mantle or Jackie Jensen are, neither can replace DiMaggio. Joe was an inspiration ball player and the Yankees are not going to look the same without him.

Manager Says Joe Won't Fight Again

DETROIT—Marshall Miles has let his contract run out as manager of Joe Louis and says he is "positive" the former heavyweight champion "will never fight again."

Miles was manager of the Brown Bomber for seven years and was quoted by Tommy Devine in the Detroit Free Press as saying:

they have not been playing a rough brand of hockey of late. Their recent success has been due, in fact, to letting the other fellow use the rough stuff if he so desires and concentrating on close checking defensive work and effective team work on offense.

Of course, as hockey goes, a few hard body checks and even a punch or two have been thrown in self defense, but the overall emphasis, which brought victories over Calumet and Portage Lake, has been on playing the puck and not the man.

A rousing game is in prospect tomorrow. Marquette has a high scoring outfit that has poured in 97 goals in 17 games, one more than the Hawks. But the reason the Hawks are ahead of the Sentinels in the standings is that Marquette has allowed 121 goals to only 95 for the Escanaba sextet.

Full Strength
 Marquette's high scorers in the first five are Johnny Vasseau, Cud VanOverloop and Roy Olson. They compose the No. 1 Sentinel line. Other potent forwards are Jim Swenor, Gail Lawrence, Bob Quinn, Jerry O'Neil, Dick Wandberg and Dick Marlowe. Defenders are Ted Boesler, Gordon Olson, Jim Ogle, and of course the great Eady, who spends as much time up the ice as he does on his own blue line.

Escanaba will be at full strength for tomorrow night. That means Ben Artwisch in the nets, Jerry Tagliabracchi, George Petaja, Ed Broughton and Lolly Rose on defense and Mark and Ted Olson, Joe Ricci, Burt Petaja, John "Count" Cortopassi, Guy Peco, Les Young, Neil Sinclair, Dave Sorbinski and Rusty Hiltunen sharing forward duties.

The "Kid" line really sparkled in the welcome 12-6 win over Portage Lake Sunday and are expected to have a chance to let themselves go against Marquette.

Mel Bertrand of Escanaba and Fred Brunelle of Marquette will officiate.

Snow Hauled In For Thursday Olympic Opening In Norway

By BEN PHLEGAR
OSLO, Norway—(P)—With or without the cooperation of nature, the winter Olympics will open Thursday as scheduled.

That was the final word today from the Olympic organizing committee and ski officials, who have been plagued with worries about the lack of snow.

The officials at Norefjell, where the skiing events get underway Thursday, are thoroughly convinced their efforts to haul in snow and put it in place with the help of some 300 soldiers, will give the competitors a perfect run.

Water is being sprayed over the snow. Sub-freezing temperatures assure a quick coating of ice.

However, the skiing technical committee decided to postpone the women's downhill race from Saturday until Sunday. This will enable the soldiers to concentrate on getting the courses ready for the Thursday and Friday events which follow the original schedule.

Hopes for snow to cover bare spots on the ski courses all but vanished this morning when the day dawned cold and clear.

The official Norwegian weather bureau said a snow storm that paralyzed traffic in northern Denmark had been swept away from the Oslo region.

The bobsled run, scene of the only other opening day event, will be all right without more snow. It's made of almost solid ice and sub-freezing temperatures have kept it well preserved.

The two-man sleds ended their practice runs today with the Germans, Swiss and Americans still battling for superiority. The German combination of Anderl Ostler and Lorenz Nieberl holds the world's title and will be favored to keep it.

America's ski jumpers scheduled their final pre-Olympic competition this afternoon against Poland, Japan, Switzerland and Norway at the U. S. training camp at Kongsberg, 40 miles west of Oslo.

While the athletes continued their training outdoors, top brass of the Olympic organization—the international Olympic committee—limbered up inside.

The IOC began a two-day secret session, during which will come up such ticklish problems as what to do with the 1956 summer games and how to get the east and west Germans to form a single team for the summer games at Helsinki.

Detroit Right Winger Retains Scoring Lead

MONTREAL—Right winger Gordie Howe of the Detroit Red Wings enjoys an eight-point lead today in his drive to win the National Hockey League scoring championship for the second straight season.

Howe, who scored a record 86 points last year, has collected 28 goals and 27 assists for 55 points. Elmer Lach of Montreal is second with 47 points and Ted Lindsay, Howe's linemate, is third with 45 points.

The Detroit sharp-shooter also leads the league in goal scoring while Lach is the top playmaker with 35 assists.

Max Bentley, now with Toronto, was the last player to win the scoring crown two consecutive years. Bentley won it in 1945-46 and 1946-47 while at Chicago.

Another young Detroit star, Terry Sawchuk, has a healthy lead in the battle for goaltending laurels. Sawchuk boasts a 1.43 goals-against mark and turned in shutouts with 11. Sawchuk's 11 shutouts last year, Boston's Gus Kyle tops the league in penalties with 111 minutes.

Kentucky Still No. 1 On Boards

NEW YORK—Kentucky, already crowned Southeastern conference champions and assured of an NCAA playoff berth, enters the final phase of the college basketball season still ranked as the No. 1 team in the nation.

The Wildcats head the field in the Associated Press poll for the fourth straight week and the only stumbling block remaining in their path appears to be De Paul, the school they play Feb. 23.

Kentucky drew 42 first-place votes and 867 points from the 103 sports writers and sportscasters who participated in the poll. Kansas State remained in second place with 14 first place votes and 737 points.

The Kentucky Wildcats bowled over Mississippi and Georgia Tech during the week and last night, after the polls closed, defeated Mississippi State, 110-66, to run their winning streak to 20 games and their season's record to 20-2.

Duquesne, only major unbeaten team in the land, moved from fifth to third place, less than 100 points behind Kansas State.

The Dukes stretched their winning streak to 17 games by edging previously unbeaten St. Bonaventure last night, 69-63.

St. Bonaventure (16-1) remained in fourth place. Iowa (15-1) moved from ninth to fifth place while Illinois dropped from third to sixth. Iowa swamped Michigan 82-59 while Illinois smothered Michigan State, 84-62 last night.

St. Louis held in seventh place, Washington eight and St. John's of Brooklyn tenth. Kansas fell from sixth to ninth place.

Gladstone Bowlers Cop $500; Win Ishpeming Sweepstakes

Bunno and Sebeck's bowling team copped the team event in the Sweepstakes tournament at the Sportland at Ishpeming which closed Sunday and with it a five hundred dollar first prize.

The Billygoats of Gladstone placed tenth and Morgans also were on the board.

Clarence Carriere paced the winners with a nifty 792 with Art LeGault second with 732. Earl Gillis and Fred Sebeck had 719's and Warren Lindahl 601.

They had a 642 handicap which gave them the prize winning 4195.

Scores:

Carriere	211-199-191-191-792
Gillis	220-156-160-183-719
Lindahl	149-142-153-154-601
Sebeck	179-187-213-138-719
LeGault	205-172-166-189-732

Lindahl also won the singles Sweepstakes event and the hundred dollar first prize at the Midway alleys. Howard Sigan was second and added $60 to the hundred he won at Marinette several weeks ago.

Prize money totaling almost $500 was distributed to the winners of the Midway event. There were 132 entries.

Iowa And Illinois Outclass UM-MSC

(By The Associated Press)

The up-and-down basketball teams from Michigan and Michigan State can't come close to matching the class of the Big Ten—Iowa and Illinois.

The Wolverines dropped an 82-59 decision to the Hawkeyes at Iowa City last night while the Spartans were bowing 84-62 to Illinois at Champaign, Ill.

The twin victories kept Iowa and the Illinois tied for the Western Conference cage leadership with seven wins and one defeat each.

Iowa coach Bucky O'Connor cleared his bench and used 17 players in all for the one-sided win.

The smooth passing of the home club gave it a 45-28 advantage at the half. At the end of the third quarter, the score was 67-40. Then reserves went in for the final quarter and they managed to get 15 points to 19 for Michigan State.

Clive Follmer with 17 points, Irv Bemoras with 16 and Bob Peterson with 16 were the big guns for the Illinois. State's best effort was the 14 points contributed by Bill Bowler.

HOOSIERS TRIMMED

CHICAGO—P—Minnesota virtually jolted Indiana out of Big Ten title consideration last night while Iowa and Illinois maintained their co-leadership in the basketball race.

In the night's feature game, Minnesota trimmed the Hoosiers 74-61 at Minneapolis. The victory gave the Gophers a solid third place berth with a 7-3 record and a challenging spot if Iowa and Illinois should falter.

Indiana, still strong enough to knock off any of the pace setters unless they are wary, is now bogged down with four losses against four wins.

Minnesota led all the way and webbed in Indiana's 6-10 freshman center, Don Schlundt. He made only one basket and five free tosses—a season's low for him.

Illinois rebounded from its Saturday loss to Iowa to blast Michigan State 84-62 at Champaign.

Iowa coach Bucky O'Connor cleared the bench as the Hawkeyes used 17 men to roll up an 82-59 victory over Michigan at Iowa City.

Tailend Purdue scored its second victory of the conference season, both over Wisconsin, burying the Badgers 78-67 at Lafayette.

Purdue was outclassed until reserve forward John Toeppie hit seven baskets in the second quarter and the half ended in a 35-35 tie.

Center Paul Ebert flicked in 20 points as Ohio State drubbed Northwestern 79-61 at Columbus.

Center Frank Petranek of Northwestern fouled out in the third quarter after scoring 15 points.

Oklahoma Aggies downed Bradley 61-59 and Notre Dame defeated Butler 52-48 in other Midwest games last night.

Keith Thomas, newly acquired outfielder for the Philadelphia A's, spends the off-season as a student at Kansas State College.

The Eastern Intercollegiate Basketball League is the oldest league in college basketball, having started in the 1901-02 season.

Lady Tows Battleships In Unusual Profession

LONG BEACH, Calif.—(U)—Lucille (Ginger) Huckels of nearby Lakewood is in the battleship-towing business.

Ginger has been piloting a 36-foot landing craft for the naval shipyard here since 1944. Her job is to help dock and take in tow the large navy vessels at the yard.

Ginger's two reasons for doing this work are her daughters Joanne, 13, and Candace, 6. Before assignment to the power launch, Ginger had never piloted anything larger than a rowboat.

Once, when the shipyard was closed, the woman skipper ran a laundry boat to the battleships to pick up sailors' uniforms. It didn't work out so well, she explained, because she always had to have a man along to go aboard the Navy vessels.

Young Violinist Scores Hit Here

Dorothy Powers, an engaging young violinist of obvious talent, made her first appearance in Escanaba last night as recitalist in the Delta County Community Concert Association musical series.

An unaffected and charming young lady with musicianship beyond her years, she won the applause and appreciation of large audience in the William W. Oliver auditorium.

Her wisely planned program, which ranged from Bach to the currently-composing Robert Russell Bennett, displayed her sublime tone, precise technique and musical sensitivity which has brought her praise in America and Europe as one of the most gifted young violinists concertizing today.

Her most brilliant playing came in her long work of the evening, the Tchaikovsky violin concerto in D major, a difficult composition which demands the highest virtuosity of the artist. The orchestral passages of the piece, transcribed for the piano, were played with understanding and precision by Joseph Reitz, who also showed a fine talent in his solo spot in the program.

In this composition, the young artist drew deserved applause after her unerring execution of the complex and passionate first movement.

She won the audience again in a rollicking trio of compositions by Robert Russell Bennett, all shorter pieces written in a modern idiom which supplied a diverting respite in a program of concentrated listening.

In response to audience demand, the gifted young musician obliged with five encores, concluding with the Schubert "Ave Maria," leaving the audience unquestionably endorsing the performance of a charming and brilliant virtuoso.

The next program scheduled by the Community Concert Association is a recital by another young artist, Canadian pianist Frank Knight, on March 31.

Rep. Charles Potter Blames Democrats For Copper Shortage

DETROIT—(P)—Representative Charles Potter, Cheboygan Republican who is thinking of trying for a Senate seat, believes the Democratic administration is to blame for the copper shortage that has slowed automotive production.

Potter said here yesterday that an "international cartel established by Secretary of State Dean Acheson" seeks to allocate the world's copper supply and has limited this country to 403,000 short tons for the first quarter of this year.

He was referring to the international materials conference in which Acheson participated some months ago.

"It is interesting to note," Potter told reporters, "that neither Senator Moody nor Gov. Williams has said one word of criticism about this cartel. No, they are willing to allow the unemployed men and women of Detroit and Michigan to become the casualties of their own administration's blundering and unsound planning."

Author Bodenheim Set Free On Charge Of Sleeping In Subways

NEW YORK—(P)—Maxwell Bodenheim, whose novels and poems were a sensation in the 1920's has been freed of a disorderly conduct charge of sleeping in the subways.

Magistrate Charles Solomon dismissed the case yesterday after the 61-year-old Greenwich village author denied he was sprawled asleep across the subway seats on Feb. 3. Bodenheim said he had left a group of drinking companions for a subway ride.

Bodenheim, bleary and shabby, had to stay in jail a few hours after he was picked up, because he had no money to post $25 bond. Friends bailed him out.

When he appeared in court yesterday, the author was clean-shaven and spruce.

In 1928, his novel, "Replenishing Jessica," created a stir. He later was acquitted of a charge of publishing an indecent novel. By 1935 he was on relief and in Bellevue Hospital as an alcoholic.

Naked Driver Loses His Bet; No License

PORTLAND, Ore.—(P)—The man at the wheel of the car looked as if he had no clothes on.

Police stopped him. Sure enough, no clothes.

Shivering, Milton J. Russell, 23, Camas, Wash., said he had made a $5 bet that he could drive across the mile-long Columbia river bridge naked without being arrested.

"You lose the bet," said Deputy Sheriff James Sims. But then Sims considered what charge to place. Russell hadn't been drinking, he wasn't disorderly and—inside his car—it wasn't indecent exposure, said Sims.

Finally Sims wrote triumphantly: Cited for not carrying a driver's license.

Cities And Schools Out To Beat Tax Loss Bill

individuals, if an individual does not make more than two sales in a year. If he does, he would be classified as a dealer and come under the act.

Senator Charles S. Blundy (D-Detroit) attacked the measure as "an attempt by statute to nullify a constitutional amendment voted by the people"—the sales tax division.

Income Levy Advocated
Higgins asserted that the amendment will require the Legislature to find an additional $18,000,000 for the schools this year and that the schools should be willing to give up $4,400,000 if they can bolster the state's general fund by $17,000,000 and contribute to their own eventual benefit.

Higgins said the school lobby was advocating a state income tax to balance the state's budget.

The Senate passed a bill to outlaw flame-throwers on cars.

Over protests of farm representatives, the House advanced for a vote today a bill to permit state institutions to serve oleo. Sponsors said the bill would save the state more than $300,000 a year.

Rep. Harry B. Werner (R-LeRoy) sponsored an unsuccessful motion to send the measure to the agriculture committee for certain death.

Also scheduled for a vote today was a measure to permit free public access to direct relief rolls and to permit newspapers to publish welfare lists when it charged fraud.

Letters To The Editor

DISLIKES STYLE OF CAMPAIGN

Dear Editor:
Indeed, I am in full support of modern public schools, but I will not subscribe to the manner and method used by the proponents of the School Bond issue.

The members of the Board of Education were elected to offices by the majority of the people, and they should therefore represent all of the people in Escanaba, not only one faction, as is now being done.

As a matter of fact, the stupendous amount of time, effort and money being used to urge the people to vote YES is not necessary. The duty of the School Board is to present both sides of this issue in a clear and intelligent manner.

They are under obligation to the voters to present the negative and the positive relating to this School Bond issue. In presenting the advantages or disadvantages they are truly serving all of the people who have confidence in them and who voted them into office.

I believe it is wrong for any member of the School Board to advise the public how they should vote. They should present both sides of the issue and remain neutral. The voters in this city are highly schooled and they realize that they must decide whether to vote YES or NO.

The vast amount of time, effort and money being channeled into this campaign for the tax increase is startling. The extent of the campaign thus far is shocking. Newspaper publicity stories, billboard, bulletins to all school children, pamphlets to be enclosed in all local retail store sales, radio, theaters, business window advertisements, PTA meetings, instructions to school teachers, and a special school election.

Apparently those in favor of higher taxes must realize that an enormous and expensive publicity campaign is necessary in order to influence the people to vote in favor of higher taxes. This overwhelming attempt cannot succeed, for the people are tired of taxes, and taxes and more taxes.

Why is it necessary to involve the expense of a special election, when the people must go to the polls again in April? I know the answer, do you?

I was astounded to learn that many of the people advocating higher taxes and more schools, are actually people who do not own real estate in Escanaba. They give "free conversation" but contribute nothing to the tax fund.

I was informed the other day that none of the members of the School Board reside in North Escanaba. I cannot believe this, but if it is true, I can understand why they are a forgotten people and have no representation in school problems.

To vote in favor of higher taxes on February 18th, may deprive you of the essential things in your every day living, such as food, medicine, clothing, insurance bills, gas for your car, school books, fuel, your light bill and a score of other things. Yes, you could borrow money from the bank, give a mortgage on your home, and pay up your past due obligations, and probably have enough reserve to pay the 4 percent penalty fee on your last year's taxes. But, remember this mortgage must be paid, and paid with interest and compound interest, which brings you back to your original financial worries.

When the careful selection of the Citizens Advisory Council was made, why didn't they include a representative of the poor people in Escanaba? Even if he had to come in his working clothes he would have been an honest representative of his class.

I heard that the original estimated cost of the Garden School run $20,000.00 higher and an additional Bond was necessary for this amount. Inasmuch as the present proposed Escanaba School project is 7 times larger, the cost could run $150,000.00 higher than originally figured, resulting in still higher taxes.

Certainly we want new schools, new industries, improved recreational facilities, band shell, better harbors, better streets and alleys and many other improvements. However, the following program cannot be side-tracked or delayed. It is a MUST insofar as Escanaba is concerned.

Approximately $5,000,000.00 must be raised very soon for the following City projects. A new electric light and power plant; new gas plant and a new water pumping station.

When this Bond issue is presented the people MUST vote YES. They are an absolute necessity, otherwise we may be forced to go back to the old-fashioned back-yard water pump, the old out-house, kerosene lamps and the old kitchen wood stove. We cannot get along with electricity, water or gas. So figure another huge increase in taxes and cost of utilities.

We are steadily advancing to a perilous height in taxation and everybody should be alerted to the realization that further burdensome taxes will be levied against them.

The sensible thing to do now would be to build a new Senior High School with the money Mrs. Bonifas bequeathed for that purpose. Add a few additional rooms to the Barr School, and use the present Senior High School as a community college. If it is necessary for another grade school later on, I am sure the people will be glad to give their approval for its construction.

Think of the thousands of dollars it would save parents in being able to send their children to a local Community College, besides being able to have them at home for an additional two years?

We should all be neighbors. We live in a small community. We cannot afford to harbor ill-feelings against one or another. I have heard from a quite a few people that the people that are opposed to higher taxes and such a tremendous school building program at this time, are communistic. This is not true, for everyone is entitled in his own right to express his own opinion and vote as he thinks is proper and best. The proponents for the School Bond issue and higher taxes should not criticize or condemn the people who cannot afford such a program.

This is an open, debatable issue and every Citizen's is free to vote according to his own dictates, and without fear of being persecuted or reprimanded for the position he takes in this issue.

Sincerely,
Henry L. Sauers Sr.

(Editor's Note: There was only one bond issue for the Garden school project, in the amount of $20,500. The new school was built at a cost of $161,114 of which $150,000 was a bequest from Mrs. Catherine Bonifas. The board of education provided $12,000 from funds on hand. The bond issue covered a cost of $11,347 in remodeling the old school and $9,236 in equipment for both buildings. The bond issue was not established because the ultimate cost exceeded the estimate, but rather because the Garden people decided to remodel their old school at the same time the new school was being constructed.)

Tribute To Lincoln Paid At Burial Site In Springfield, Ill.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—(P)—Traditional tribute to Abraham Lincoln on his birth anniversary today centered at his tomb in Oak Ridge Cemetery in this shrine city.

Pilgrimages afoot and in motor caravans to the burial place, speeches, roundtable discussions and dinners marked the 143rd year since Lincoln's birth in a log cabin on a farm in Kentucky.

Lawyers of Sangamon county will walk to the tomb from the county courthouse, the former statehouse in which the Civil War President made his famed "house divided" speech. They will follow the route taken by the Lincoln funeral procession.

Stock Dealer Found Guilty Of Cruelty To Horses In Cold

PAW PAW, Mich.—(P)—Benton Harbor livestock dealer Gene Kahn was found guilty of cruelty to animals here today in the court of Justice Glen Huey.

A six-man jury returned the verdict and Judge Huey set Thursday for sentencing.

Kahn, who was accused of putting out 21 horses to pasture in Van Buren county in December without providing shelter or food, took the stand in his own defense.

He put out salt, corn stalks and crab grass for the animals, he said.

Kahn said he would appeal the verdict to the Van Buren county circuit court.

Hiding Robbers Caught In Store

FRANKENMUTH, Mich.—(P)—

Summoned by an alert citizen, 10 police officers from nearby cities converged on a general store and nabbed three hiding youths.

State Police Detective Burt Yungfer said the three had admitted looting nine place from Detroit to Kawkawlin, Mich., in the past month.

The three were identified as Calvin Solomon, 19, his brother Eldred, 22, and Nicholas Ybarra, 23. All are residents of an Indian village near Crosswell, Sanilac county.

Police Chief Nick Resnor of this Saginaw county village received a call from an unnamed citizen at 2 a. m., reporting a light in the Rau Brothers general store. Resnor called State Police at Flint, who dispatched four troopers and summoned help from the Clio and Mt. Morris police departments and the Saginaw county sheriff.

When the officers arrived in the store, they found one youth hiding on a shelf, another behind a stack of linoleum and the third under a rug.

Detective Yungfer said they had admitted other break-ins in Detroit, Flat Rock, Marysville, Crosswell, Bridgeport and Kawkawlin. The latter was the largest, Yungfer said, netting the trio $1,000 worth of guns, six radios and other equipment.

useless waste."

Staff investigators have reported widely divergent prices are paid by various government procurement officers for the same items.

For instance, they say 60 watt light bulbs cost the Transportation Corps seven cents, Army Ordnance 14 cents, Khaki blankets cost the Federal Supply Service $4.65, the Medical Services $8.56 and the Marine Corps $9.89.

Lyle's criticism centered on military construction. He said that on the same day the government clamped down on the amount of steel, copper and aluminum and other materials used in building homes, the Signal Corps announced a five million dollar construction project at Fort Monmouth, N. J. This, he added, included a heating plant, auditorium, conference room and a sound apparatus testing center.

Briefly Told
Condition Improved—The condition of James Tuyls and Edward Krueger, who were admitted to St. Francis Hospital Sunday after being found unconscious in an automobile, was reported to be much improved today. Both men regained consciousness. The pair were victims of carbon monoxide poisoning Saturday night after their car fell in a ditch near Cornell.

Sen. Flynn Proposes To Abolish Liquor Business Manager

LANSING—(P)—Abolition of the controversial job of business manager of the State Liquor Control commission was advocated today by a former commission chairman, Senator Felix H. H. Flynn (R-Cadillac).

Flynn filed a bill to turn the manager's duties over to the chairman, who would be appointed by the governor and confirmed by the Senate. The commission now selects its own chairman, who usually is unofficially picked by the governor.

The business managership has been a source of controversy ever since it was created by a commission order and filled by Gen. Louis A. Kunzig. Last year the legislature established the job by law when Democrats tried to fire Kunzig. He has since retired.

Veterans Test Russian Gun; Neighbors Object

SAUSALITO, Calif.—(P)—Two veterans of some of the bloodiest fighting in Korea tested their war prize—a Russian machinegun—on tin cans.

Some residents complained. But Deputy District Attorney William Weissich said he wouldn't prosecute Marine Sgt. Raymond Raiser, 19, and Cpl. George Tsigelatos, 19.

"Anybody who brings home a Russian gun deserves a medal—not a jail sentence," Weissich commented.

But he confiscated the weapon to turn it over to federal authorities.

Man-Killing Shark Hunted By Panama Native Fishermen

PANAMA, Panama—(P)—Six teams of native fishermen begin a shark-killing expedition today in a hunt for the man-eater that may have caused the death of Gosta Videgaard, missing Swedish engineer.

Harry Soderman, a Swedish investigator, organized the expedition in an effort to track down every clue to Videgaard's disappearance Jan. 25.

Soderman thinks that in the stomach of some man-eating shark in the waters around Paitilla Point may be found conclusive evidence that Videgaard met accidental death while swimming.

Videgaard vanished from the Hotel Panama after he left a note saying he was going for a walk. His clothing was found Saturday on a comparatively lonely beach on the outskirts of Panama City.

Police surmised that Videgaard may have walked along the beach until he reached a place free of mud flats and gone swimming at low tide. A new slaughterhouse there has been attracting sharks to the area.

School Issues Are Outlined To Lions

Claude Tobin Jr., school board member, and Guy Knutson, Escanaba mayor, were guest speakers at the meeting of the Escanaba Lions club last night. They presented information concerning the school bond building program.

Tobin emphasized that the building program is a development of the work of at least 200 citizens who have made an exhaustive study of school needs. He said that the program will cost taxpayers $7.50 per $1,000 of assessed valuation or less.

Knutson declared that good schools are necessary as a part of a three-way program to strengthen the moral fiber of America. He said that the home, the church and the school can combine to strengthen moral character.

Mason Meyers and Mike Goodman of the Gladstone Lions club outlined to the Escanaba club plans for the development of stock car racing in this area. They reported that local drivers will present a feature attraction at the U. P. State Fair in August.

William O. Jacobs, Los Angeles, Calif., former Escanaban, is the author of a technical article in the January issue of the Oil and Gas Journal, national publication of the industry. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Jacobs of 742 Lake Shore Drive.

He is engaged in process and construction sales engineering on catalytic cracking and other refining operations for Southwestern Engineering company, Los Angeles.

Receiving his B. S. E. in chemical engineering at University of Michigan in 1943, he joined Abbott Laboratories, North Chicago, Ill., and later went with Ralph M. Parsons company, where he engaged in process and project engineering on oil petrochemical plants.

Pardon Of CIO Rioter By Gov. Williams Gets Sharp Criticism

WASHINGTON—(P)—Gov. Williams' pardon of unionist Thomas Flynn after the CIO leader was jailed on a charge of picket line violence drew sharp criticism yesterday from Rep. Hoffman (R-Mich.).

In a House speech, Hoffman referred to Flynn as a "chronic offender who spent 30 days in prison on a charge of tipping over an automobile during a strike in Berrien county, Mich."

He said the pardon "was the governor's public proclamation to those who engage in violence, to those who stop work in factories engaged in defense production, that they have a friend in the state house at Lansing."

Then Hoffman asked: "Can it be that the governor's pardon was issued because Flynn was prominent in CIO councils and the governor counts on CIO votes for re-election?"

Enemy Makes Up New Proposals In Korean Deadlock

over Red Cross activities.

Before offering to produce a new set of Red policy recommendations, North Korean Gen. Nam Il accepted the Allied position that whatever recommendations are adopted would not be binding on the proposed later high level political conference.

"The recommendations are not the formulation of the agenda" for such a conference, he said. "The specific question (of agenda) should be decided by the governments concerned."

China Counted In

The Reds original proposal was submitted last Wednesday. It called for a high level political conference between Red Korea and Red China with belligerent U. N. powers to arrange for withdrawal of foreign troops, peaceful settlement of the Korean question and discussion of other questions related to peace in Korea.

Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, leading the Allied negotiators, said the plan (1) would open the door for talking about "all the problems of Asia," (2) would omit South Korea which is not a member of the United Nations, and (3) would include Red China although the Communists have repeatedly said Red China is not participating in the Korean war.

Bank Mission Tries To Get Iran's Oil Lines Flowing Again

TEHRAN, Iran—(P)—An International Bank mission began on-the-spot negotiations at the bedside of Premier Mohammed Mossadeq today in an effort to get the $1½ billion dollar Iranian oil industry going again.

The five man mission, headed by the bank's vice president, Robert L. Garner, has a new twist to this old problem—a plan for the bank to manage Iran's nationalized oil industry temporarily until Iran and Britain settle their long-standing dispute.

The costly deadlock began last April when Mossadeq's government took over the British-built and British-operated oil industry.

There are some indications Mossadeq may now be more willing to talk business. With the oil industry's exports cut off, external revenues no longer are coming in and the government is fast running out of money.

Banking Committee Approves Arnall For New Price Stabilizer

WASHINGTON—(P)—The Senate Banking Committee today unanimously approved former Gov. Ellis Arnall of Georgia to be the new price stabilizer.

It took the committee less than one minute to act after Arnall had discussed his qualifications and beliefs about inflation with the Senators for an hour and a half.

Before taking office, Arnall must receive a vote of approval from the Senate itself. Chairman Maybank (D-SC) of the banking committee said he would ask for a Senate vote on Monday.

Arnall, in giving the Senators his views, said he would continue studies already begun on taking controls off some commodities.

Chrysler Prices Up

WASHINGTON—(P)—Increases in the retail ceiling prices of Chrysler-made automobiles were in effect today. The hikes, approved by the government yesterday, established basic price boosts of $64 to $85 on the Plymouth, $72 to $118 on the Dodge; from $85 to $132 on the De Soto; and, with the exception of the Saratoga series, from $83 to $235 on the Chrysler.
